From Field 🌿 to Mill 🧵

You have followed the journey that a piece of cotton makes from the field it is grown in, travelling thousands of miles overseas to be spun into thread in a cotton mill. Who knows what it might end up as... a beautiful dress or a soldier’s uniform, a piece of netting... or where... shipped to Russia?

Your task is to write a story about the journey of a piece of cotton. In your story think about:

- What processes the cotton goes through?
- How it travels from overseas?
- Who the cotton is dealt with in each place?
- What does it end up as?
- Where does it’s journey end?

Remember to use your imagination and use some of the details you have learned.
